Seminar Schedule

9:30 - 10:00	Coffee and Pastry
10:00- 11:00	Food Safety Begins at Cornell University Dr. Elizabeth Bihn, Senior Extension Associate Department of Food Science, Cornell University
With expertise in fresh produce, dairy, juice, and food processing, the IFS@CU helps the food industry address food safety challenges through research and extension education and training. The IFS@CU is also focused on making sure the food industry is prepared to meet federal regulatory requirements outlined in the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA). This presentation will focus on IFS@CU established programs as well as new initiatives that are serve the food industry and outline opportunities to collaborate. Through these collaborations, the IFS@CU personnel actively work to keep food safe from farms to consumers' tables and every step in between.
11:00- 12:00	3rd Generation Stevia Extracts Alex Woo, Chief Innovation Officer, Nascent Health Sciences
2nd generation stevia extracts were all about high purity RA, the higher the purity the better the taste. Farm-based 3rd generation stevia extracts are the newer 2-way and 3-way blends of RABCDM for even more sugar like taste but at higher cost. Alternatively, fermentation or enzymology-based stevia may co-exist in the near future. Enzymatically modified stevia extracts are sweet taste enhancers that can be used as part of the stacking strategy for sugar reduction.
12:00 - 12:45	Lunch Break, Riverside Court
12:45-1:45	Plant Proteins: Moving to the Center of the Plate Rody Hawkins, Ph.D., President & Chief Executive Officer, Improved Nature LLC
The global plant based meat market is about $4.6 billion with an annual growth rate of 6.8%. This demand has created frozen "Plant Protein" sections in most supermarkets and now they are moving to the refrigerated case. While these products are getting closer to meat, can they replace meat for flavor, nutrition, versatility, and texture? The answer is yes and this is what we are doing every day at Improved Nature.
1:45-3:00	"What's Next! Trends, Issues and Opportunities: Foods/Drinks 2018+" Elizabeth Sloan, President, Sloan Trends Inc. Contributing Editor, Food Technology magazine Marketing Editor, Nutraceuticals World magazine
This fast-paced data driven presentation will outline the new megatrends impacting the food and beverage industry for the next few years, from the new Millennial baby boom, to outsourcing meals and eating alone. Dr. Sloan will update the latest on clean label, natural, organic and GMO foods and identify the next generation of food avoids. Stay tuned for the latest health/wellness trends and demands including what benefits and ingredients consumers are most interested in getting from foods/drinks.
